Organization/Group/Individual Applying:

Which best describes the applicant?

- ☐ A 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that has been approved by the Internal Revenue Service as a tax-exempt, charitable organization
- ☐ A government entity
- ☐ An individual farmer or rancher applying for cost reimbursable training
- ☐ An individual farmer or rancher applying for soil health research project funding
- ☐ Other (please explain):

Name of project or activity:

What is the purpose of your organization:

What amount are you requesting? $ Please keep in mind, we offer grants up to $2,500.

What is the total cost of the project/activity? $

What is the anticipated timeline for completion of the project/activity?

What soil health issue(s) will your project address?

What is the hoped for outcome of your project?

Tell us more about your project. If research, how will it be designed and what will you be testing? If an educational activity, what topic(s) will you address and who will your resource person/people be?

Who will you reach and how will they benefit from the results of your project? How will you share results from your project with others to expand the benefits of the knowledge gained from your project?

Who else (individuals, groups, agencies, etc.) will be on your team to assist you with the successful completion of your project and what will each member's role be?

If youth will be involved in your project, please explain their level of involvement (leadership role, participation, observation, not involved).

In addition to this completed application, please attach a complete itemized budget that shows where a DGSHF grant would be used, where other funds or in-kind support would be used, and the source of those resources (if applicable). Would receiving this grant increase the likelihood of receiving other support?

Send the completed application, any additional information, and an itemized budget as PDF attachments to the DangillespieSHF@gmail.com. The Dan Gillespie Soil Health Fund will award grants twice per year. The deadlines for applications are March 1 and October 1 of the current year.
